All the students were directed to assemble at the college campus on just time, before 5:30. The Teacher -in-Charge Mr. Basob Ghosh sir was physically present there to send us off with his wholehearted blessings and warm wishes. Our much respected Coordinator Dr. Firoj High Sarwar, who assisted us throughout the journey, was also present there before we started our journey and shared with us some important instructions that were really of immense help. We reached Shantiniketan at 11 am and visited one by one all those literary coloured places imbued with direct touch and memory of our own RN Tagore. Then at 2pm we headed towards the Shona Jhuri Forest and reached there at 2:30 pm and in-between we completed our lunch from Ram Shyam hotel before 3:15pm. After lunch we began to explore the forest with a thirsty heart that was really quenched after a while. At 4:30 we moved towards the Kopai River. The river charmed us with scenic beauty and heavenly aura that imprinted an everlasting mark on the hearts of our students. At 5:30 we began our return journey taking lots of memory and reached home just at 9pm. Really the journey from the beginning to the end was worth enjoying.

Knowing the Place Historically

Santiniketan is a neighbourhood of Bolpur town in Bolpur subdivision of Birbhum district in West Bengal, India, approximately 130 km from our College Campus. It was established by Maharshi Devendranath Tagore, and later expanded by his son Rabindranath Tagore whose vision became what is now a university town with the creation of Visva-Bharati. In 1863, Rabindranath Tagore took on permanent lease 20 acres (81,000 m<sup>2</sup>) of land, with two chhatim (Alstonia scholaris) trees, at a yearly payment of Rs. 5, from Bhuban Mohan Sinha, the talukdar of Raipur, Birbhum. He built a guest house there and named it Shantiniketan (the abode of peace). Gradually, the whole area came to be known as Shantiniketan. Binoy Ghosh says that Bolpur was a small place in the middle of the 19th century. It grew as Shantiniketan grew. A certain portion of Bolpur was a part of the zamindari of the Sinha family of Raipur. Bhuban Mohan Sinha had developed a small village in the Bolpur area and named it Bhubandanga. It was just opposite Shantiniketan of those days. Bhubandanga was the den of a gang of notorious dacoits, who had no compunction in killing people. It led to a situation of conflict and confrontation, but the leader of the gang, ultimately, surrendered to Debendranath, and they started helping him in developing the area. There was a chhatim tree under which Debendranath used to meditate. Inspired by The Crystal Palace built originally in Hyde Park, London, to house the Great Exhibition of 1851 and later relocated, Debendranath constructed a 60-foot × 30-foot hall for Brahma prayers. The roof was tiled and the floor had white marble, but the rest of the structure was made of glass. From its earliest days, it was a great attraction for people from all around. Rabindranath Tagore first visited Shantiniketan in 27 January, 1878 when he was 17 years old. In 1888, Debendranath dedicated the entire property for the establishment of a Brahmavidyalaya through a trust deed. In 1901, Rabindranath started a Brahmacharyaashrama and it came to be known as Patha Bhavana from 1925. In 1913, Rabindranath Tagore won the Nobel Prize in Literature. It was a new feather in the cap of the Tagore family which was the leading family contributing to the enrichment of life and society in Bengal in many fields of activity over a long period of time. The environment at Jorasanko Thakur Bari, one of the bases of the Tagore family in Kolkata, was filled with literature, music, painting, and theatre. Founded in 1921 by Rabindranath Tagore, Visva Bharati was declared to be a central university and an institute of national importance, in 1951.

Shantiniketan is situated at 23.68°N 87.68°E, at an average elevation of 56 metres (187 feet). The area is flanked on two sides by the rivers, the Ajay and the Kopai. Santiniketan earlier had an extensive forest cover, but substantial soil erosion gave certain areas a barren look, the resulting phenomenon is locally known as khoai. However, as a result of the consistent efforts by botanists, plants and trees from all over India flourish in parts of the town. Although the overall environments of the surrounding areas have changed with time, the core area of Santiniketan has retained its closeness with nature.

Importance & Outcome of the Study Tour:

As we are the students of literature, it was a great opportunity for the students to physically observe all those memory laded materials used by Tagore. The Students came to know the experiment of education that was institutionalised by Rabindranath Tagore in the lap of nature with direct communication and attachments with it. Kopai River is the background of many poems written by R.N Tagore and it is also the background of a novel "Hasuli Banker Upokotha" by Tara Sankar Bandopadhaya. It was really a place worth remembering for the students of literature. The forest in Shona jhuri is actually an abode of heavenly beauty which mesmerised us immensely. It teaches us how to protect nature and preserve it. The study tour, in a single word, was of huge success.
